

Want to embrace Your lovely face / However painful

However painful may it be

To part our ways for today

There is strong hope and belief

For a new life in Jesus name

And every night I go to sleep

There's quiet peace inside my mind

As I feel and know this life is only a butterfly.

It elopes from caterpillar

To make us fly to the sky

Where the holy and true sun

Will not burn us to the ground.

No fake lamp can compare to

To holy Father where I want to stay

Forever protected and apart

From trouble and pain within my heart-

At this holy gorgeous encounter

How will I feel finally relieved

To find and see what Jesus promised: happiness till eternity.

In that holy place I know
I will see Your lovely face
As Father knows I long so strong
For a moment to embrace.

Want to embrace my sweet mom,
You maybe brother, husband or son,
All our beloved families
It is not wrong to hope and pray
Tomorrow, might be a happy day.

However painful may it be
To part our ways
For today.
Let us all hope , pray and believe
For promised life in Jesus hand.
